

TEN MORNINGS OR EVENINGS WITH GOD

Most of us occasionally have longed for a billboard message from God telling us which direction to take in life. Can spending ten mornings or evenings with God take the frustration and panic out of life's decisions? In her book, Sister Ilia shows us that it can.

Like Paul, we want to do God's will, but more often than we want to admit, we may find that we do just the opposite. Sometimes the gift of free will does not seem like God has done us a favor. Knowing which job to take, when to get married, or which medical treatment will cure our loved one would all be so much easier if God's will were less mysterious. Yet, we believe that being able to choose freely whether to love God or to do our own thing is a precious gift. And we desire to do God's will.

"While the amazing mystery of God is beyond our human comprehension, it is not out of our spiritual reach," Sister Ilia assures us, in her book, Ten Evenings with God. To seek God's will means we must get to know God. Ten short chapters, with guiding questions to reflect on our relationship with God at the end of each one. The insights Sister Ilia presents will amaze you—spending time with God should be amazing. Tap into the amazing grace and be set free to choose, to follow God's will, and live life abundantly.

Sister Ilia Delio, OSF, is professor and chair of Spirituality Studies at Washington Theological Union. She has written extensively in the area of Franciscan theology.
